

CONTRIBUTORS TO THIS ISSUE

- Graeme T. Powell is the Principal Librarian, Australian Reference, at the National Library of Australia, Canberra.
- Paul Mullins is Officer-in-Charge of the Repository Management Branch of the Australian Archives.
- Timothy Walsh is in charge of the Methods and Equipment Section of the Repository Management Branch of the Australian Archives.
- Doreen Wheeler was Assistant Archivist in the Queensland State Archives 1963-65; Deputy Archives Officer of the Archives of the Research School of Social Sciences, Australian National University 1971-76; and Corporate Archivist of the Broken Hill Proprietary Co. Ltd, since April 1976.
- Judith Hornabrook is Chief Archivist of the National Archives of New Zealand.
- A. J. Watson is a Senior Principal Research Scientist with the Division of Chemical Technology of the C.S.I.R.O. and has been with the C.S.I.R.O. for more than forty years. A world authority on pulp and paper science, he was awarded the Appita (Australian and New Zealand Pulp and Paper Industries Technical Association) L. R. Benjamin Medal in 1975 for his services to the industry, and has been a member of the Executive Committee of that Association several times. He has published more than sixty technical papers and was Editor of the Appita journal for eleven years.
- Brian Baldwin, M.A.(Cantab.), is Deputy Archivist at the South Australian Archives.
- E. W. Russell is Acting Director of Research, Australian Public Service Board.
- Ian Maclean is Principal Archivist with the Archives Authority of New South Wales.
- Marjorie Morgan has undertaken extensive indexing work in a voluntary capacity for the Public Record Office, Victoria, including the majority of unassisted immigrants to Victoria 1852-71.