

About the Contributors

Paul Brunton BA, Dip. Lib., has been on the staff of the Manuscripts Section, Mitchell Library, since 1973, and manuscripts cataloguer since 1978. He was a member of the Australian Society of Archivists' Council for two terms, 1979 to 1983, and since then has become book reviews editor for Archives and Manuscripts.

H.J. (Jim) Gibbney was formerly an Archives Officer at the Australian Archives in Canberra. He was editor of Archives and Manuscripts from 1956 to 1959. For some years now he has been a sub-editor of the Australian Dictionary of Biography, at present in charge of the Queensland and Papua New Guinea desks as well as the Biographical Register which is expected to be published late 1984 or early 1985.

Ron Gilchrist BA, Dip. Ed. is at present employed at the Australian War Memorial as a Curatorial Assistant II, Private Records. Prior to commencing work at the Memorial, Ron completed the Diploma of Information Management/Arch Admin in 1981. More recently he has been involved in the temporary removal of the Written and Printed Records collections during renovations to the Research area of the Memorial.

Jack Honniball, MA, ALAA, is Senior Librarian, State Film Archives, J.S. Battye Library of West Australian History. He took up his present post in 1979 after nine years in the Education Department as Librarian of the Audio-Visual Education Branch and the State Film Centre. His earlier career included another four years' service in the Battye Library. Since 1961 he has had numerous articles published, mainly in the field of Western Australian history.

Janet Howse has a BA with honours in history and a Diploma in Archives Administration. After initial archives experience in Canberra, she became assistant to the member for Monaro in the NSW Parliament, and was an alderman with the Queanbeyan City Council for several years. She became archivist to the Council of the City of Sydney in February 1981. She has been a member of the Action Committee for Local Government Records since October 1981, and was recently appointed by the Minister for Local Government to the Ministerial Working Party on a General Records Disposal Schedule for Local Government.

Shirley Humphries, BA, ALAA, is Assistant Mitchell Librarian, State Library of New South Wales. Before taking up this position in 1978 she had worked in the Manuscripts Section for fourteen years, from 1970 as Manuscripts Librarian. She has worked for the State Library of New South Wales since 1954.

Carole Inkster migrated from New Zealand in 1981 in possession of a BA degree and a Teaching Certificate. She completed the Graduate Diploma of Librarianship at the Canberra College of Advanced Education in that year and was awarded the Librarianship Prize for Information Retrieval. She is currently employed in the Library of the Australian Bureau of Statistics, in Canberra.

Graeme Powell was appointed Manuscript Librarian in the National Library of Australia in 1969 and he was subsequently the Principal Librarian, Australian Reference. Since January 1979 he has been the Australian Joint Copying Project Officer, based at the Australian High Commission in London.

Colin Smith was one of the first students to take the Diploma in Archives Administration at the University of New South Wales. He worked in 1974 on Trade Union records at the Australian National University Archives of Business and Labour, and then from 1975 to 1978 at the Australian Archives in Canberra. Since 1978 he has been Archivist of the Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization.

A.C. (Charles) Staples, MA, was foundation Vice-Principal of Mount Lawley Teachers College, Perth, after a career in teaching at all levels. History has been his chief interest and particularly the fields of colonial Western Australia and the Indian Ocean Region. He has served as president of the Royal Western Australian Historical Society, and as a member of the Australian Commission for UNESCO and of the committee of the Fremantle Museum. Currently he is a foundation member of the National Trust (WA), executive member of the Australian Association for Maritime History and a vice-president of the Friends of the Batty Library, Perth.

John Thompson, MA, Dip Lib, ALAA, is Principal Librarian, Australian Reference, National Library of Australia. He has worked previously as Chief Manuscript Librarian in the National Library and as Manuscript Librarian in the La Trobe Library, State Library of Victoria.