

About the Contributors

Jenny Dean worked in the Technical Development and review Sub-section of the Disposal Section, Australian Archives from December 1986 to November 1988. She worked on the sampling guidelines produced by that section from approximately March to October 1988.

Lindsay Howe is Photographic Officer and Acting Officer in Charge of the Reprography Section of La Trobe University, and has recently completed the Diploma of Information Management (Archives and Records) at the former Melbourne College of Advanced Education.

Chris Hurley has been Keeper of Public Records in Victoria since 1981. He worked in the Australian Archives from 1970 to 1980 and was extensively involved in the development of archives legislation for the archives of the Commonwealth.

Livia Iacovino recently completed work as a part-time Senior Consultant with the Public Record Office of Victoria, and is currently part-time Senior Tutor at Monash University's Graduate School of Librarianship, Records and Information Management, working on the Diploma in Archives and Records Management program.

Irene Kearsey is the Chief Medical Record Adviser, Health Department Victoria. She has a B.App.Sc. (Medical Record Administration) and is currently undertaking the MA (Archives and Records) at Monash University.

Gavan McCarthy, following a conventional secondary education in science and completing the first year of a medical degree, went on the graduate with a BA(Hons) in music. While still a student he commenced part-time work with the University of Melbourne Archives specialising in their scientific and medical collections. In 1985, he was appointed Senior Archivist to the Australian Science Archives Project at the department of History and Philosophy of Science, University of Melbourne.

Dr Wendy Southern joined the Technical Development and Review Sub-section of the Disposal Section, Australian Archives in March 1989.