

About the Contributors

Glenda Acland has held various archives positions at the University of Queensland since 1981, being currently Head of its Archives and Records Management Services. She has conducted consultancies here and overseas, has been a member of the Australian Society of Archivists' Editorial Board for many years, and heads the Australian Council of Archives' project to produce a Glossary of Australian Archival Terminology.

Baiba Berzins is currently Executive Officer, Australian Council of Archives. She has previously worked as an archivist and university lecturer in positions including Principal Archivist of the Northern Territory and Mitchell Librarian at the State Library of New South Wales.

Rosanne Clayton has been the Librarian at the Adolph Basser Library, Australian Academy of Science, since July 1984, and has also been an active member of the ASA Special Interest Group on the Archives of Science, Medicine and Technology.

Peter Crush is Principal Information Resources Officer for the Corporation of the City of Adelaide (responsible for the Adelaide City Archives), and is also Archival Statistics Contact Person for the Australian Council of Archives. Prior to joining the City of Adelaide in 1978 as its first Archivist, he was for eight years the OIC of the South Australian Branch of the Australian Archives. He was President of the ASA during 1987–1989 and foundation President/Secretary of the ACA.

Livia Iacovino has been on the teaching staff of the Graduate Department of Librarianship, Archives and Records, Monash University since 1990, working on the Diploma in Archives and Records Management program. She previously worked for the Australian Archives and briefly for the Public Record Office, Victoria.

Gavan McCarthy has been the Senior Archivist for the Australian Science Archives Project based in the Department of History and Philosophy of Science, University of Melbourne, since 1985 and is Convenor of the ASA Special Interest Group on the Archives of Science, Medicine and Technology. He previously worked at the University of Melbourne Archives.

Dr Gregory Pemberton is a lecturer in politics at Macquarie University. Former appointments have included teaching at the Australian Defence Force Academy and writing with the Vietnam Official History project at the Australian War Memorial. He has actively contributed to the debate concerning access to Australian security and intelligence records.

Cheryl Simes is currently a part time information specialist with the Hamilton Office of Telecom New Zealand. Her professional career has included terms as a self-employed archives consultant and with the New Zealand National Archives, during which as Arrangement and Description Archivist she developed the manual GAIMS system.